REPUBLICANS WILL WORK FOR DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

MISSOURI STALWARTS JOIN

SHOW THEIR LOYALTY TO KANSAS CITY'S INTERESTS.

General Ways and Means Committee Will Be Organized This Week-President Swofford Is Sanguine the Movement Will Succeed.

The Missouri Republican Club is as active in the pursuit of the Democratic national association at New Haven in September for the purpose of making an effort to secure the next national gathering for Kansas City as any Democratic organization, and its members will be as a mighty host in the fight. E. F. Allen and Assistant Postmaster Walter Davis, the club's representatives on the general committee soon to be organized, are losing no time in working up interest among Republicans and that the club, as an organization, is also mightly interested is evidenced by the following communication received by President J. J. Swofford, of the Democratic Club, yesterday:

Kansas City, Mo., June 23, 1899.

Typothetae, will go to the meeting of the mational association at New Haven in September for the purpose of making an effort to secure the next national gathering for Kansas City. The organization is a large one and has chapters in every city of importance in the United States.

"I believe that Kansas City can easily get the next convention of the National Typothetae," said Mr. Lechtman yesterday. "We will make a desperate effort to secure the next national gathering for Kansas City. The organization is a large one and has chapters in every city of importance in the United States.

"I believe that Kansas City can easily the slightest sign of embarrassment. Typothetae," said Mr. Lechtman yesterday. "We will make a desperate effort to get it here, and I am going to New Haven, where the annual convention will be held this year, for the purpose of starting the movement on a solid basis. Such men as the Harper Bros., De Vinne, Rand & Mc. Mc. Well will be held this year, for the purpose of starting the movement on a solid basis. Such men as the Harper Bros., De Vinne, Rand & Mc. Promoters of the scheme will not be laggards when once the race has begun. The Democratic national committee meets in Chicago next month and it is there the showing will have to be made. The convention city, however, may not be selected by the committee until next January, and the delay may give-chicago an advantage unless it is speedily demonstrated by Kansas City that it can easily care for the convention and the thousands who will be in attendance.

In order that it may be strictly in the political swim at convention time the Democratic Club is going to have a home of its own. At the last meeting of the club it was decided to establish head-quarters and $1.200 was subscribed by members present toward the furnishing fund. The plan pleases Mr. Swofford and yesterday in discussing the club, of which he is very proud, he said:

"The need of rooms has always been recognized by members of the club is members of the club of which he is very proud, he said:

Every Month

there are thousands of women who nearly suffer death from irregular menses. Sometimes the "period" comes too often - sometimes not often enough-sometimes the flow is too scant, and again it is too profuse. Each symptom shows that Nature needs help, and that there is trouble in the organs concerned. Be careful when in any of the above conditions. Don't take any and every nostrum advertised to cure female troubles.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR

is the one safe and sure medicine for irregular or painful menstruation. It cures all the ailments that are caused by irregularity, such as leucor-rhœa, falling of the womb, nervousness; pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides, hips and limbs. By regulating the menses so that they occur every twenty-eighth day, all those aches disappear together. Just before your time comes, get a bottle and see how much good it will do you. Druggists now that we have $1,300 in sight and know where we can get more if necessary, we propose to 'house' ourselves at once, fix the rooms up as they should be and become a factor in the local and state political field. Plans have not yet been fully discussed and of course the committee to be appointed by me will have to decide upon them before securing a location. The idea of the members is to have handsomely appointed and commodious rooms in the central part of the city. There will be reception rooms, retiring rooms, card rooms, a meeting hall, cloak rooms and, probably, a buffet, over which a steward and a corps of assistants will preside.

"We want a meeting place where we can rest from the labors of the day and enjoy the society of congenial friends at nightin fact, we intend, if our plans can be carried out, to make of our political organization a club that will have all the best social features of metropolitan clubs and at the same time not relegate to a subordinate position the real object of the club's existence."

of the United States upon that subject has been, it is only necessary to examine a few of its recent decisions.

In the case of Mattingly ws. District of Columbia, it is upon special assessment for street improvements, says: 'Il may be that the burden laid upon the property of the complainant is onerous. Special assessments for road of street improvements very often are oppressive; but that the legislative power may authorize them, and may direct them to be made in proportion to the frontage, area or market value of the adioining property, at its discretion, is, under the decisions, no longer an open question.

And in the case of Spencer vs. Merchant, 125 United States, 385, the supreme court of the United States says: 'The legislature, having the power to fix the sum necessary to be levied for the expense of a public improvement, and to order it to be assessed, either like other taxes upon property generally or only upon the lands benefited by the improvement, is authorized to determine not only the amount of the whole tax, but the class of lands which will receive the benefit. And the legislature has the power to determine by the statute imposing the tax what lands which might be benefited by the improvement are, in fact, benefited; and if it does so its determination is conclusive alike upon the owners and the courie.'

In the case of Parsons vs. the District of Columbia, 170 United States, page 45, decided in October, 1897, the supreme court of the United States used the following language, which is very applicable to this case: "It is trite to say that general principles announced by courts which are perfectly sound expressions of the law under the acts of a particular case may be wholly tanpilcable in another and different case; and there is scarcely any department of law in which it is easier to collect one body of decisions and contrast them with another and different conflict than that which deals with the taxing and police powers."

conflict than that which deals with the taxing and politice powers."

And in that case the court held that an arbitrary act of congress assessing abutting property at the rate of congress assessing abutting property at the street in all cases, regardless of the cost of the work, was not in violation of the Fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution.

In rendering this decision Justice Shiras said:

In rendering this decision Justice Shiras said:

"When congress enacted that, thereafter, assessments for larging water mains in the District of Co-when congress enacted that, thereafter, assessments for larging water mains in the District of Co-when congress enacted that, thereafter, assessments for larging water mains thall be laid, such act must be deemed conclusive alike of the question of the necessity of the work, and of the benefits as against the abutting property."

The case last above cited was commented upon in the decision of the village of Norwood vs. Baker, which is cited as authority by Judge Philips, and was approved as being entirely harmonious. It is quite obvious that an arbitrary assessment of a definite smount in all cases, regardless of the cost of the work and without research to incuite a termination of the macked that the Institute has decided to the work and without research to incuite as to the cost of distribute free trial packages to all who write. The envelope was entirely as it should be. It was made of heavy white paper. It looked for all the world like a note from some friend of the Colgate family. Such the butler believed it to be when he delivered it to Mrs. Colgate. Inside, on a sheet of fine white paper, was written:

was approved as being entirely harmonious. It is quite obvious that an arbitrary assessment of a definite amount in all cases, regardless of the cort of the work and without regard to inquiry as to the benefit is much more drastic and indefensible than the provisions of the charter of Kansas City which provides that the cost of paving a street, and no more, shall be assessed against abutting property according to frontage.

Then, with a martyr-like expression, he accompanied the policeman to the station. There they searched him. The questionable memoranda which they found in his pocket are keeping detectives of the West Sixty-eighth street station busy as they have not been before for weeks.

Besides a number of transfer slips from almost every station railroad in New York, and a newspaper clipping containing an account of the recent incendiary fire on Randall's Island, the police found twenty letters with as many envelopes, all of them in his waistcoat pocket was a narrow memorandum book, containing about fifty names and addresses.

Nearly all of the names are of men well known in New York. After many of them is entered a commentary by the writer. At the top of one of the pages are the words:

The Barber Asphalt Company is now paving Thirteenth street, and Wabash at the intersection of Thirteenth has been paved with gravel. Yesterday the asphalt people attempted to plow up the gravel with a break-plow with six horses attached to it, but it was so well grouted together that it was impossible for the plow to make any progress. They had to then resort to the old pick and shovel and get it out that way. This street was paved with gravel about three years ago, and its wearing surface is as good to-day as the day it was originally laid. A Despondent Male.

I was always business-like, you know, and I like to keep a record of the manner of my reception, so that, in case it was not a pleasant one, I would not make the mistake of calling there again." The memorandum book told the story. Lawson had the art of begging carried to a higher point than, perhaps, has ever been attained before. The memorandum book was the ledger of his business. His daily cash book consisted of a dirty plece of paper folded inside of the note book. It is written rather illegibly, and the entries are purposely as obscure as possible. Many of them cannot be deciphered. But they are evidently a list of various articles of clothing which had been given him by charitable people and which he had pawned. Here are three sample accounts: A fledgling of the law, who, on his gradu-
